MEDICINAL.

Like a flash of lightning, sudden and startling, disease strikes down many a man. Yet there have been warnings upon warnings, unheeded. Food has lain like a heavy weight in the stomach after eating. There have been belchings, bitter risings in the mouth, nervousness, sleeplessness and growing irritability. Instead of listening to these warnings, recourse has been had to some of the nerve numbing palliatives that cover but never cure disease. Many serious diseases begin in a diseased condition of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. For such diseases there is one medicine which rarely fails to effect a complete cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures ninety-eight per cent. of all who give it a fair and faithful trial. It is a temperance medicine and contains no alcohol.

"I was afflicted with what the doctors called nervous indigestion," writes Mr. Thos. G. Lever, of Lever, Richmond Co., S. C. "I took medicine from my family physician to no avail. In looking over one of Dr. Pierce's Medical Discoveries, I found my case described exactly. I wrote to you and made a statement. You sent me a descriptive list of questions and some hygienic rules. I carried those out as best I could, but thought myself incurable as I suffered much with pain under my ribs and an empty feeling in my stomach. At night would have cold or hot feet and hands alternately. I was getting nervous and suffered a great deal mentally, thinking that death would soon claim me. Always expected something unusual to happen. I was irritable and impatient, and greatly reduced in flesh. I could scarcely eat any thing that would not produce a bad feeling in my stomach. After some hesitation, owing to my prejudices against patent medicines, I decided to try a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets. After taking several bottles of each, I found I was improving. I continued for six months or more, off and on until I was cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a positive cure for constipation.

KING EDWARD'S CROWN.

The coronation crown of Queen Victoria, which King Edward has had taken to Marlborough for his inspection, weighs at present about 39 ounces. Although it will have to be enlarged for the King, he wishes it kept as light as possible. It is in strong contrast to the crown of George IV, which, it is said, weighed seven pounds. Sixty years ago Queen Victoria's daidaim was valued at £12,780, and it is undoubtedly worth much more today. The pious hood of King Edward the Black Prince will be retained as a central gem. There are twenty diamonds in the crown worth £1,500 each; four crosses, each containing twenty-five diamonds valued at £12,000 altogether, and two large solitaires worth £2,000 each. In describing the coronation robes "Modern Society" says:

The special robes which his majesty will wear when being crowned, and while afterward receiving the sacrament, are works of art which will occupy the selected Spitalfield looms some little time, as they cannot be quickly wrought. The tunic is something like a loose jacket, with open sleeves, and for Queen Victoria was made of the richest cloth of gold, woven with palm branches, roses, shamrocks and thistles. The stole is of bullion embroidery, with a design including Tudor roses, shamrocks, thistles, royal coronets, and with the cross of St. George worked at each end. Most magnificent of all is the cope, which is of the richest cloth of gold, studded in colors with roses, shamrocks, thistles, and with silver eagles, fleur-de-lis and royal coronets. These vestments are of an ecclesiastical character, and they are assumed in the Abbey and taken off in the Abbey after the sacrament, the sovereign being arrayed for leaving in a robe of state of purple velvet and ermine. The white lawn alb, or surplice, which King Edward will wear under his cloth of gold habiliments will naturally be of the old regulation pattern, and will differ from the lace trimmed frock made for his mother to assume on the like occasion. Once only is the English sovereign invested with these symbolic vestments—the alb, tunicle, stole and gorgeous cope.

STORY OF THE BIG HOG.

"The story of how Captain James Evans lost his love for steers horses on account of a white steer reminds me of the famous hog that was once owned by Judge Watts, of the State," said a resident yesterday. "Among in the 70's Judge Watts, who was holding court in Warrenton, heard that a Mr. Shell in that town had an enormous hog weighing about 700 pounds. At that time the Raleigh fair was near at hand and it occurred to the Judge that he would make money by buying the hog and exhibiting it at the fair. So he purchased the animal for $100 and shipped it to Raleigh by express. He built an elaborate pen for the hog, erected a tent over it and had one of his sons and a young fellow named Speed to exhibit the animal. I visited the fair a few days afterwards and was attracted by a large crowd in one corner of the grounds. I found the big hog and his exhibitors in all their glory. Speed was calling out the merits of the hog and Watts was taking in the quarters. About every 15 minutes a negro would appear with a couple of mint juleps for the prize displays and their yelling would become louder. In a high falsetto voice Speed was crying:

"Walk in, gentlemen, and see the big hog—three years old and weighs 1400 pounds." After interludes had fully gotten in their work Speed mounted a high box and yelled at the top of his voice, "Come right in and see the big hog—1400 years old and weighs 3 pounds."

"On the last day of the fair Judge Watts wired to his son: 'Send me all money left over your expenses.' The son replied: 'Big hog ate up all receipts. Send us $25 to get home on.'"

"And to cap the climax in returning home, the big hog died as a victim of rapid transit. Well, sir, after that Judge Watts had no respect for a big hog—would never look one in the face and even ventured to scow when fat pork graced his festive board." [Charlotte (N. C.) Observer.]

SWEETHEARTS ONCE COMPLAINTS

NOW.—Two prospective bridegrooms sued for breach of promise of marriage by former sweethearts have experienced the inconveniences of Ludlow street jail, New York. Love found the way in one case, and a wedding to which the guests were bidden took place only after a bride had bailed out her fiancé.

The other again still languishes in a cell in default of bonds for $1,000. Louis Perper is the luckless youth who is still in jail. He was sued for $10,000 damages by Miss Clara Halmer. She declared that mercenary motives made Perper's love grow cold, and charges that he admitted to her that another girl had offered to let him have $500 to start him in the painting business if he would marry her. Samuel Reider was superintending the decoration of a hall.

MOTHER'S BREAD

It is the duty of every housewife to investigate the merits of Corby's "Mother's Bread." Give it a fair trial. Let the family eat it every day at every meal, and health and strength and satisfaction for all will be the results.

Mother's Bread is pure and wholesome. It is baked better and tastes better than any other bread baked.

Ask your grocer for "Mother's Bread" and look for the Corby stamp which denotes the genuine.

which he had hired for his marriage ceremony, when Deputy Sheriff Walger took him into custody. His bride to be, Miss Annie Wasser, who was present, burst into tears, and friends of the couple threatened bodily harm to the deputy sheriff if he persisted in taking the bridegroom to jail. Reider's arrest was due to a suit brought by Rebecca Welbeck. Miss Wasser succeeded in raising $500 cash bail, on which Reider was released, and she led her fiancé in triumph to the hall, where the marriage ceremony was celebrated.

Cured of Chronic Pharyngitis After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with pharyngitis and thought I was 'past being cured,'" says John S. Hallows, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the pharyngitis that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be reached of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure a Cough or Cold at once. Conquer Croup, Whooping Cough and Measle Cough without fail. Best for Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Grippe, Pneumonia, Consumption and Lung Affections. Gives quick, sure results. Price 25¢. Sold by Richard Gibson and all druggists.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of stimulants in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren st., N. Y.

George W. Lane, Pawama, Mich., writes: "Your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the best remedy for indigestion and stomach trouble that I ever used. For years I suffered from dyspepsia, at times compelling me to stay in bed and causing me untold agony. I am completely cured by Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. In recommending it to friends who suffer from indigestion I always offer to pay for it if it fails. Thus far I have never paid." For sale by E. S. Leach, Boston & Sons.
